SUPER SENTENCES!

Handwriting practice lines consisting of ten sets of three horizontal lines: a solid top line, a dashed middle line, and a solid bottom line.

HOW TO IMPLEMENT:

Your students can use these mats to learn how to write a “Super Sentence” with lots of juicy describing words and action words. Students simply choose one word from each column on the chart to make a “Super Sentence”. For example, they might write “The big black cat meows on the fence.” by choosing words from each column of the chart.

In the beginning of the year, I use the “Super Sentences” mini books and charts and teach my students to write one super sentence per page, adding a great illustration and labeling. As the year progresses, I transition to the big “Super Sentence” journal and instruct my students to write one super sentence, and then add 3 or 4 more of their own sentences, to make a complete story, including an illustration and labeling.

You can also use these charts with the whole class, projecting them onto your whiteboard and writing a super sentence as a class, which will allow you to model proper penmanship, spacing, and punctuation.

Another fun idea is to have students write a super sentence in their large journal or on separate paper, and then trade it with their neighbor, who can continue the story. This activity fosters teamwork and cooperation.

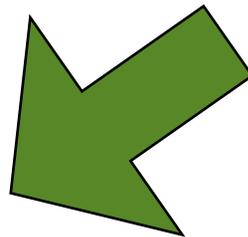

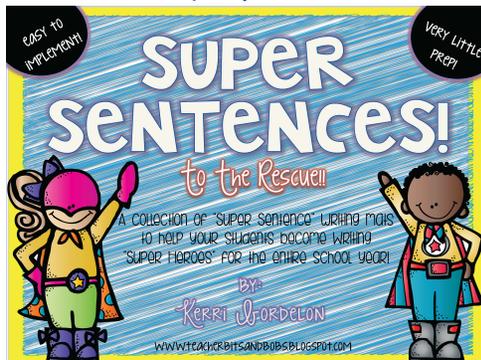

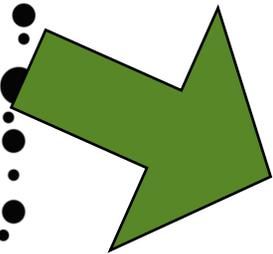

These charts can be placed in your writing corner for free writing time, used during your writing block, or used in a writing center. Your students will also be practicing reading and writing sight words, adjectives, nouns, and positional words by using these charts, since some of the words repeat each month. Watch your students become Writing “Super Heroes!!”
