

Are you a chocoholic ?

1) Read the text:

Do you like chocolate? Do you like it very much? Does a piece of chocolate satisfy you or isn't it just enough? Do you need a bar of chocolate when you feel depressed? Just one? Be careful – you may be addicted!

Chocolate contains small amounts of three drugs. When you get too much of any of the three, your body becomes chemically dependent – addicted – on the drug.

One of the drugs is caffeine, which is also in coffee and tea. Caffeine is a stimulant, and can also interfere with the way you absorb vitamins. Another drug in chocolate is also a mild stimulant. The third drug causes your brain to produce a type of hormone that makes you feel happy. That's why you like it so much!

In Britain, the average person eats nine kilos of chocolate a year. That's too much! And too much of any drug is harmful. So next time you unwrap the third or fourth chocolate bar of the day, watch out!

2) Now, answer about the text:

a. What's the main idea of the text? How is chocolate presented? _____

b. What does chocolate contain? Give examples: _____

c. How much chocolate do British people eat a year? _____

d. Do you consider yourself a chocoholic? Why? _____

3) There are many verbs in the Present Simple in the text. Write four of them.

4) "Chocoholic" is formed by choc(olate) + (alc)oholic and means a person who is addicted to chocolate. This word has the base alcoholic, which is a person addicted to _____

And what do you think is a workaholic? _____

Grammar

5) Consider the sentence “Chocolate contains three drugs”.

- a. Change it into Negative form: _____
 b. Change it into Interrogative form: _____

6) “The drug causes addiction.” In the plural form this sentence is:

7) Complete with personal (I, you, he, she, it, we, they) , object (me,you, him, her, it, us, them) or possessive pronouns (my, your, his, her, its, our, their):

- a. Chocolate is wonderful! _____ is _____ favorite sweet. Do you like _____?
 b. Lisa can't eat chocolate because _____ has allergy.
 c. What do _____ like with chocolate?
 d. Hey! Don't be so selfish! Give _____ a piece of your cake too.
 e. _____ chocolate bar is made with strawberry and _____ is delicious!

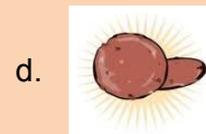

8) Vocabulary : Things made of chocolate

Write the names :

hot chocolate bar
Easter egg cake
ice cream muffin

bon bon milkshake
cookie lollipop

donut

ice cream